

Front Range Exceptional Equestrians

(FREE) is a therapeutic riding program for people with physical, mental and emotional challenges. Horses are led by a volunteer, with an additional volunteer serving as a 'side walker.' Therapeutic riding improves the rider's flexibility, balance and strength, and empowers them with confidence, patience and self-esteem.

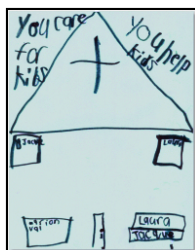

FREE is a Premiere Accredited Center, recognized by the North American Riding for the Handicapped Association (NARHA), and was named Service Provider of the Year at the 2009 Mayor's Awards by the Ft. Collins Commission on Disability.

Tee it up for TWO deserving charities!

ChildSafe is the only nonprofit in northern Colorado that provides comprehensive treatment to victims of child sexual abuse and their non-offending family members, including group therapy. Highly trained therapists provide outpatient treatment to heal the trauma of sexual abuse, reduce the risk of re-victimization, and prevent the cycle of abuse from carrying over to future generations.

ChildSafe also offers parenting classes to help with the special challenges of parenting a child who has been traumatized.
